STUDENT POLL PICKS WHO'S WHO?

HOMETOWN RAN A CLOSE SECOND TO WHO'S WHO?

IN POLL EXPERIMENT

A popular feature, started only last month in the WRANGELL EAGLE, ran a close second to the winning feature "Who's Who?" in a recent poll taken among the student body. "Hometown," a feature developed by Lucy Nicolai, came up with 27% of the total of all votes cast by the students.

The popularity over this entry is probably stirred up from the pictures of students entered by Lucy each month. The pictures of 15 or 20 students are shown each month along with the names of their hometowns.

SEVEN SCHOOL PAPER ENTRIES MAKE A SHOWING

IN POLL

With "Who's Who?" leading 33%, and "HOMETOWN" following 27%, five other student produced features accounted for the remaining 40% of the total votes cast by the Wrangell students in a recent poll. These features were "Sports," Larry Evanoff; "Interview," Roslyn Jones; "Book Reviews," Delores Cook; "Editorials," Blanche and Vivian; and "Office Notes" Ruth and Mark.

STUDENTS SELECT BOY AND GIRL COLUMN OUT OF A FIELD OF SEVEN STUDENT FEATURES

The EAGLE feature bearing the banner "Who's Who?" was selected by the Wrangell students as their favorite from among all other features carried in the school paper. From a student poll conducted over a period of days, the column written by Vivian Duncan accounted for 33% of the total votes cast by 204 students.

WHO'S WHO?

Vivian Duncan

This girl is one of the nicest girls on campus and is nice and goofy in the dorm. She is most likely seen with R.J. Hermick-name is "Sugar" and She is from Room I. You will hardly see her walking around the campus and she is around 5' 3" tall. She is very shy and is also very cute.

Who is she???????

This boy is also from Room I and is one of our few sixteen year old students. He is around 5' 4" tall and is one of the nicest boys here at Wrangell Institute. His best friend is J. E. and he is one of our A Squad players.

Who is he?????????

READ AHEAD FOR THE ANSWERS

TIME FLIES DOESN'T IT?

Time flies, doesn't it? A whole semester has gone by already. The students are a whole semester older now, and smarter with a whole semester's worth of valuable information stacked away in their private dictionaries.

The teachers are trying to make study habits their best friend so that the students can do a little better each quarter.

Schooling is Studying, participating and enjoying a real school spirit. Have you got school spirit? If so, congratulations, you are one of those students that enjoy getting a good education.

Loads of work isn't an easy thing to do especially with four solids. The students take homework to the dorms every night with books sky high.

All the teachers guarantee the students that are struggling to make satisfactory grades, today, will be their joys for tomorrow.

KEEP WRANGELL INSTITUTE CLEAN

Many of the students are getting careless with where they throw their paper and other trash. There are four trash cans by the building ready for students to use them. The fact is, a number of students do not use them.

Wrangell Institute should look clean and respectable at all times. Wrangell is our home while we are here.

Now that spring is approaching, make the Institute a place to be proud of. Every time someone has something to be discarded wait until there is a trash can available and throw it away there.

Help to make Wrangell Institute to look its best.

EAGER FOR HOME

After this month we will have about three more months before we go home. We are all waiting patiently until our time has come to leave for our own hometown. Most of the students here are all eager to see their parents and their brothers and sisters. But, most of all trying to get passing grades so that we may not have to come back here the next year.

....Alma Kingeak

There are only three more months until we go home. Also, there are two more months until we pack our clothes. I bet everyone is happy because we are going home pretty soon. Everyone can't wait until May.

BASKETBALL GAME

There is going to be a basketball game at Wrangell Institute, February, 4th, at 7:00 P.M. It will be held at the gym. The basketball game is between the B squad and the A squad. I will be looking forward to see who will win because I'm on the B squad.

EDUCATION FINE AT WRANGELL

Wrangell Institute is a good place for kids to start out a good education. It has rules that other places have. It has a good place for the students to live in, and has a nice dining hall to eat in.

In the school we have time to study, and learn new skills, like in arts and crafts. From it we can make wallets, belts, and many other leather works. It also has a gym big enough for learning new and different types of sports that is played all over the world.

From these experiences we may learn a good living.

GIRLS' DORM HAD PLAY

The girls' dorm had a play a few weeks ago. There were many different kinds of plays. Also, they sang many songs. It was on a Friday. We all enjoyed it. We hope the boys' dorm will make a good one like the girls did. So, help us all make a good one.

BULLETIN BOARD INTERESTING

MAGNETS IN SCIENCE

In Room H students have just finished a unit about magnets. There are two different kinds of magnets. One kind is the electromagnet which can be controlled by a switch. It is made by a current from the dry cell. To make the electromagnet stronger, you add more dry cells. A permanent magnet, be turned on or off. There are two ways of making a permanent magnet. One way is stroking a metal with one end of a bar magnet. Another way to make a permanent magnet is by letting the electric current flow through a coil of wire with an iron core. But, if you want to make it stronger you have to wind more wire around it.

ALL ABOUT MINTO, ALASKA

Minto is a very nice place for hunting game. It is a place where most of the Athabascan Indians live. It is just a little village with about 42 houses.

We Indians live in log houses and use drift-wood to keep us warm, althrough the winter. We cook by drift-wood too.

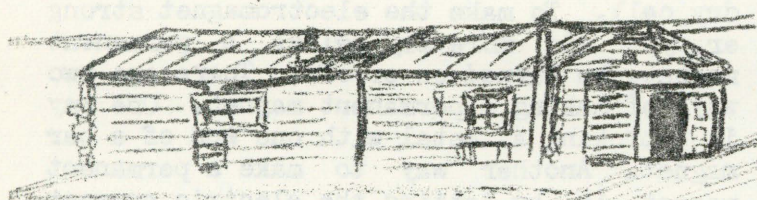

In the winter we make a living by hunting moose, rabbits, wolf and trap mink, weasel, muskrat, and beaver. In the summer we catch fish with fishwheels and by fish-nets. We cannot use fish-hooks on the Tanana River because it is very muddy.

Minto is about fifty miles east of Fairbanks. In the summer we always go to Nenana for gas for our outboard motors. Nenana is just about 30 miles up river from Minto.

About ten miles back of Minto there is a big flat place where many game live and where they are born. This place, the Indians call Minto Flats. Every year people go out to Minto Flats and kill lots of game to eat.

Minto is an Indian word, which means, "Land with many lakes."

THE HOBO DANCE

This last weekend we had a dance in our school gym. It was called a hobo dance. Everyone thirteen and over were invited. The dance began at seven o' clock and it ended at nine. The dance was a lot of fun because everyone who went to the dance had to dress like a hobo. The girls wore jeans rolled up to their knees, with a big sweater. Some of the girls put their hair up in pony tails. One girl had her hair in pony tails all over her head. One was on the back, one on the top of her head and two on the sides. There was one girl I thought looked real cute. She had her hair in a ponytail. She danced with Walter Jack. I guess you all know her. Her name is Mary J. Cooper. She is a popular girl in the girls' dorm. Everyone likes her.

At the end of the dance everyone wanted to play more records. They didn't want to leave the gym. There will be another dance. It will be on Valentine's Day. I hope everyone will enjoy their dance that's coming up.

HOMETOWN SURPRISE

Yesterday, I checked out a book about the "Yukon Voyage." Yesterday we had gone over to the library room to check out library books. After Mr. Lemley talked to us and after some boys and girls made some book reports, we looked for books that we wanted to check out. I looked through the library and found two books. After I found the books I went into the other room and read Anchorage and Fairbanks news. After that, I roamed around the room and found a book by Walter R. Curtin. The title was, "Yukon Voyage." I quickly looked through the index and there I found Russian Mission, Alaska. I was surprised to find this village because it is my hometown.

Because of the promptness in realizing what had caused the alarm, Carol Gurtler saved south dormers an unneeded trip down the escape slide.

BOOK REVIEWS

Delores Cook

Igloo Tales, by Edward L. Keithahn (Department of Interior): There are a number of tales in this book, but there is one that I like best and it is called "The Dwarfs."

The story is about two dwarves. They were small but very very strong. They could lift a bearded seal and also big black whales. But they could not lift a thing after another person touched it.

Once, after the dwarves caught a whale and put it by their igloo, a woman and her child came by and touched it. When the dwarves came back they could not lift their whale.

When they found out who the woman was they made motions at her as if they were boxing her. She began to swell. If you ever saw the woman who touched the whale you would see her swollen face.

This is an interesting book.

BAMBI, by Felix Salten (D.C. Heath & Co.): This book tells about animals. One of the animals in this story is Faline. Another animal is Thumper. Faline is Bambi's girl-friend.

Bambi's father's name is Old Stag. Old Stag is king of the forest. Old Stag saved Bambi most of the time.

The author Nan Gilbertson is the pen name for Mildred Gilbertson, whose books have been as varied as her interests. Born in Galena, Illinois, raised in Sheldon, Iowa, and educated in Texas, she now makes her residence in Eugene, Oregon with her husband, son, and daughter.

After her graduation from the University of Texas, Mrs. Gilbertson worked as a copy writer in St. Paul advertising agency until her marriage, and she moved to a town with an advertising agency. It was at this time that she started writing stories for inspiration.

After moving to Eugene, she returned to the advertising fields for seven years, then abandoned it forever in favor of her true stories....books and young readers.

...Eleanor Angnaboogak

Daughter Of Wolf House, by Margaret E. Bell (William Morrow & Company):

This book takes place in the same Haida village and at the same time as the book "The Totem Casts A Shadow." It tells of a Haida girl who lives with her grandparents because her white father and Indian mother had both died.

Nakatla's grandfather, chief of the tribe, believes that the young people should learn the ways of the white man so they will be able to keep up with the new generation. But the old witch doctor tortures his granddaughter when she goes by the white man. Nakatla goes to the white man store everyday to learn English from the youngest son of the Monroe family who knows some Haida.

The book tells of the many adventures Nakatla has and the dangers there are. Read about the life she lives and share her joy when she marries Gregory Monroe and goes to live with him on the island of Wrangell.

Buffalo Bill, By Frank Lee Beals (Wheeler Publishing Co.): William Frederick Cody was Buffalo Bill's name. People started calling him Buffalo Bill because he was the greatest buffalo hunter on the plains.

He was married on March 6, 1866, to Louisa Federici in St. Louis. They later had a son which they named Kit Carson Cody.

In the year of 1916, Buffalo Bill became ill. January 10, 1917, he died in Denver, Colorado.

I am sure you will enjoy reading this book as much as I did.Balassa Nick

FRESHMEN

A GREAT DOG MUSHER

So far as most people of the northern part of Alaska can remember dog racing is the most important sport. Usually everyone who wins the "North Championship Rendezvous" at Anchorage or the "North American Championship" at Fairbanks would be praised and called upon as the greatest dog musher for the year.

But no one before Jerry Riley (from Nenana) has gone across country to enter the New Hampshire championship. On November 1964, Jerry left Fairbanks with his handler Charles Ned and his fifteen dogs. These dogs are a mixture of Siberian and Malamute. They were all loaded in his Ford truck and headed for New England.

Before crossing country, Jerry competed in a preliminary race at Mt. Rose, Lake Tahoe. This was a nine mile run with the temperature at 50 degrees above zero. He succeeded in winning second place. On January 2-3 at Tamworth, New Hampshire, the first race of the season started. With forty other entrants Jerry raced and finished fifth. The second day proved to be better than the first because he came in third.

In Meredith, New Hampshire January 16 - 17 Jerry brought back the title by winning both races.

Jerry's sister Gloria, who is attending school here at the Institute, drove his dogs last year and won a trophy at the Minutog race. Maybe racing is "hep" in that family.

Let us all hope that Jerry will do as well in the "World's Championship of Sled Dog Racing" next month.

SHOPPING TRIPS CHANGED

Starting last Saturday, the students go shopping on Saturday from 1:05 to 2:30 P.M. instead of on Tuesdays and Fridays from 4:00 to 5:00. The reason for stopping the trips on Tuesdays and Fridays is because the students who went shopping didn't have enough time to get all the things they wanted. On the last shopping trip, the students really seemed to be enjoying themselves.

THERE IT WAS.....

There it was waving in the sky,
There it was, for which men would die,
Cloth it be, red, white, and blue,
But with much more meaning be it to you.

Through many a battle it has been,
Through many a sorrow within the hearts of men,

O let it wave, in the cold blue sky,
As a symbol, for which men would die.

WORLD GEOGRAPHY INTERESTING

For the past few weeks the freshman classes have been studying about the different groups of states in America. They studied them and took notes. Then Mrs. Hefelbower gave a test over what the students have covered. It has been going on constantly for about one month. Then the study of the states was over.

She let the students take it easy for a few days and showed them different slides about the states. The slides were very interesting to see. It was mainly of the states that were studied by the students.

But now that is over and the students are back to the old book again. Mrs. Hefelbower said that we have to dig deeper for information so she is going to let us give reports on the countries we like to study. This is what the students are doing now and they are finding it very interesting.

HALF OF SCHOOL YEAR IS OVER

You can believe it or not-- the first semester ended about three weeks ago. Now it's the beginning of the second semester. It has been a happy school semester for the students who learn some subjects in school that they hadn't learned. Before you realize it, it will be time to wash and press your clothes to be packed in your suitcases and for home.

There will be some exciting events going on here during the spring, such as going on picnics and field day.

But it is not spring yet so students keep on working on your schoolwork and don't let your grades go down. Always remember to keep your grades up even if spring just around the corner.

HIKE TO RAINBOW FALLS

Last Sunday a group of 25 boys or so went to Rainbow Falls on a hike. This hike was headed by Mr. Fykerude.

We thought it would take us a long time to get up there because the ground was very rough. It was almost like climbing up a mountain. There were fallen trees and low branches along the path. Sometimes the going got pretty rough.

After we reached the end of the trail, we started down trail because it was so steep. By the time we got to the road, most of us were rather tired. At the end we all thought it was good exercise.
